A TWIST ON SAT E.L.A. PREP

A preparation for the ELA section of college entrance exams (GED/SAT) & common core skills through a journey format - exploring the diverse experiences of students of color and a world that embraces our perspectives, our imagination and our greatest virtues.

THE WHY: Education has always seemed so disjointed from itself and the reality of being human in a progressive and yet troubled world. How could we learn not just academics, but how to make life better for ourselves, our planet, and others? For, as it is said, education is not about the filling of a vessel - but the sparking of a flame.

A real TAKE ON THE TRUTH

For too long, we have associated European history as World History. This course examines the happenings of the world from the lens of the first people of each land, including Europe. We look at colonization from their perspective, the resistance movements against colonization, and the progressive movements within neo-colonization. Future Complementary Course: Arts and the Movement (Examining Music through the generations and its correlation to Political History, from an American lens)
